THE TEN EVIL DEEDS OF THE EUROPEANS. It would seem by a "tract" that has been sent to us under the guise of "A New Song, or the Ten Evil Deeds of the Europeans," composed by a Hunan scholar by the name of Yu and published at Ch'angte Fu, Hunan, by a bookseller that the practice of writing and publishing what the assault made on him, that several mandarins has been known as the Hunan Publications has by no means died a natural death yet, notwithstanding the protestations of the Chinese authorities to the contrary. For gathering from the context, the "New Song" dates no earlier than the autumn of last year-to give it as ancient a date as may be consistent with probability. "China," says this traot, or rather we should call it this new song, "China was a fair, happy and prosperous country under the beneficent rule of the Ta Teing dynasty until the hated European, full of guile and latent wickedness, appeared on the scene. Then he made his baneful presence known by engaging kidnappers to wayley children, irrespective of ser, who escaped detection by boing transformed into sheep. by means of a charm placed on their heads, until being taken to a place of safety far away from the prying eyes of the people, a single draught of water was sufficient to make the shorp resume their natural forms and become children once more. But sooner or later retribution must come. It came in this instance one day in the 4th moon. of last year (May, 1892.) when nine sheep that had been stolen by a party of four kidnappers in the city of An Fu, Hunan, broke the spell, unknown. to their captors, by drinking some water. The children's tale was soon told; but afraid that the magistrate of the town, by accepting bribes from the men, would let them go, the people of An Fu took rengeance into their own hands by decapitating the four kidnippers and chopping their bodies into minoemeat. But it was not until they had sprinkled the blood of a black dog. on the kidnappers' necks that they succeeded at last in beheading them, for hitherto they had defind the people by their spells, turning the edges of the executioners' swords. The next evil is the Roman Catholic priests, who bribs the ignorant to become converts and then by the use of baneful drugs they kill them in order to obtain the heart, eyes, and gall of their victim. These deeds escaped detection by the bodies being sown up and swathed in winding-sheets before being put into the coffins. Next comes the bringing of opinm into the country to sap the energies and undermine the health of the young and strong, so that the European might overawe with his superior strength the enervated Chinese. But the worst of the whole thing is that knowing the harm engendered by taking this drug, people do not avoid it because -they love it! The next evil again is the European aven who tempts the youths of the country. Then comes the steamer Dakin, Cruicks'k & Co which, from the vastness of its size, marders- Dairy Farm Co. ..... might be perpetrated within it, by the throwing Fenwick & Co., Geo... overboard of the innocent passenger and no one Green Island Cement any the wiser for the deed! The sixth evil is the importation of rifles and cannon for which H. & C. Bakery ..... the wealth of the country is exchanged. The country is strong in its righteousness and love of justica, and by the doctrine of the " Brotherhood of all within the Four Seas" all weapons are useless. Thus, again, the European tries to take away the wenith of Chins by setting up H. & W. Dock ...... telegraph poles; but in reality it is to spy and map out our country that they have come. They tried to get a footing in Husan for this purpose: but our people were too clever for them and drove them out the province, and burnt the telegraph poles. To the people, therefore,

The author of the " New Youg " vonches tor the truth of his story, and finally concludes by saying that much wisdom and many benefits may be obtained by the payment of a few cash, and exhorts his readers to repeat the tale to their children, "in order that they, too, may avoid the engres of the Europeans and escape being their victims in the fature."-N. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong .For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of latey ears been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, BILLS OF LADING FOR THE PRINCIPAL and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises at 3 P.M., the Company's Steamship for students of a most instructive nature. Both "PREUSSEN," Captain Hogemann, with the Court and Punti pronunciations are given displays the success of an attempt to make the Shipping Orders will be granted till Noon. Chinese and English type correspond in the size Cargo will be received on Board until 4 P.M. of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of 1893. (Parcels are not to be sent on Board; attained, and dispensing with those vast margins cels should not exceed Two Feet Cubic in following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16.000 and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-a light rubber hall. As the boat descended, with one tremendous 'side wipe " of the mighty caudal fin, and with a terrible crash that was heard on the ship nearly two miles away, the whale smashed it into kindling-wood. Then, catching up the lanternkeg, water-keg, line-tubs, and other wooden utensils comprising the furniture of the boat, it spitefully ejected the fragments. With festoons of whale-line bauging from its teeth, it angrily shook its head and started off to join its fellows, leaving a wide wake of boiling sads, and the wreck of the boat.
